MEXICAN BOY HELD FOR INVESTIGATION IN SLAYING OF LAD

BOY HELD DENIES HE EVEN KNEW YOUNG PHILLIPS, FOUND MURDERED

A Mexican boy about 13 or 14 years old is being held in the Navarro county jail, although no formal charges have been filed against him, for investigation in connection with the death of Jack Phillips, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Phillips, who reside on the B. L. Davis farm about one and one-half miles south of Corbet.

The Mexican boy being detained here lives on the Carpenter farm in the same community. He denies any knowledge of the shooting of young Phillips and said Thursday that he did not know Phillips.

The body of young Phillips was found in about three feet of water in Richland creek Wednesday morning by searchers who had scoured the creek and creek bottom after the lad had failed to return home Tuesday afternoon. He had been shot in the top of the head with a .22 calibre rifle, apparently having been shot from behind, the bullet ranging downward toward the eyes or nose. The lifeless body apparently toppled over into the creek, face forward. He was killed instantly as there was no water in the lungs.

Body Found in Water.

The lad left the family home about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to bait some fish hooks he had set out in the creek. Investigation revealed that he had baited several hooks and from the condition of the ground about the last fishing place, was preparing to bait the hook when he was shot by his assailant.

When he failed to return home late Tuesday afternoon, search was instituted for him. When he was first found in the creek, it was thought that he had fallen into the water and drowned but when the body had been brought out to the bank of the creek, it was found that he had been shot in the head. The boy's cap was still on his head when he was found and he had a nigger-shooter in one pocket and a can of worms for bait in the other. A portion of a dead rabbit was nearby.

When the rescuers ascertained that foul play had caused the lad's death, they laid the body down and telephoned to Corsicana for officers. Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell and S. B. Jordan, justice of the peace, immediately went to the scene of the tragedy. Judge Jordan conducted an inquest and returned a coroner's verdict that death was due to gunshot wounds inflicted by an unknown person. Sheriff W. T. Wilson also went to the scene of the tragedy Wednesday morning and officers of the sheriff's department continued their investigations Thursday.

Funeral services for the youth were held Thursday with interment in Corbet.

Surviving are his parents, three brothers and two sisters.

The family has resided in the Corbet community only a few months, having moved there from West Texas. Members of the family and neighbors could assign no motive or cause for the deed.

WEAPON OF DEATH NOT FOUND ABOUT FOSSLEMAN HOME

MARTINDALE, March 22.—(AP)—Search for the hatchet or axe with which Charles Fossleman, 60, was slain at his home here Tuesday night still was unsuccessful Thursday.

The inquest verdict that Fossleman was killed by blows over the head with a hatchet, and that his wife later committed suicide by drowning in the bath tub, was sustained by subsequent investigations.

Justice of the Peace J. P. Crook said that from testimony of all persons he questioned, the murder suicide theory was upheld. A note said to have been written by Mrs. Fossleman was found in the house. It said that "it is best for both of us to go."

Mrs. Fossleman had returned to her home only a short time before from a San Antonio hospital.

SENATOR COUZENS SPEAKS IN SENATE AGAINST SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—(AP)—It was made clear today at the treasury that regardless of the result of the vote in the senate on the resolution aimed to obtain his retirement from the cabinet, that Secretary Mellon would not resign.

It was evident in treasury circles that Mr. Mellon would ignore the attack upon him in congress unless President Coolidge should demand his withdrawal from office and no such action was considered possible. The resolution for the secretary's retirement, offered by Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, arose partly from the Teapot Dome inquiry, and Mr. Mellon's failure to disclose that Will H. Hays, former republican national chairman, had offered him Sinclair liberty bonds in exchange for a campaign contribution.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—(AP)—After provoking two hours of sharp debate today in the senate, the Couzens resolution proposing the resignation of Secretary Mellon was sent to the calendar automatically under the rules and it may be days if not weeks before it can again be brought up.

Before this occurred, Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, close personal friend of the treasury head, moved to refer the resolution to the finance committee for consideration and report and he demanded a roll call vote. Before the roll could be called, however, several senators were on their feet and a vote was prevented.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Urging adoption of his resolution declaring the senate in favor of the resignation of Secretary Mellon, Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, today declared in the senate that the treasury head had proved himself "totally unfit" to hold office.

Taking the floor after indications had come from the treasury that Mr. Mellon would not resign, regardless of the outcome of the senate vote, unless requested to do so by the president, the Michigan senator said, Mellon had been appealed to by Will H. Hays, former chairman of the republican national committee, to help "conceal" part of Harry F. Sinclair's $160,000 contribution to the republican campaign deficit.

He recalled that Mellon had declined to accept the $50,000 Sinclair bonds brought to him by Hays to be exchanged for a campaign contribution but that the secretary had refused to tell of the incident.

"Only death finally forced him to talk," Couzens said. "A note on a paper of a dead man, Mr. Pratt, saying 'Andy,' brought out the story finally of how Mr. Mellon had been tendered these bonds."

The Michigan senator who has quarreled with the treasury for years on tax matters, then went into a detailed discussion of Mr. Mellon's testimony recently before the senate oil committee.

COTTON BELT WILL BE PERMITTED PULL OFF ONE TRAIN

AUSTIN, Mar. 22.—(AP)—The railroad commission had decided to permit the Cotton Belt railroad to discontinue one of its two round trip passenger trains operated daily between Tyler and Lufkin, as a result of a hearing on the matter at Alto, one of the intermediate points, several weeks ago, it was learned Thursday.

The railroad wanted to discontinue both trains and substitute motor bus service under a contract with the bus line, but the bus feature was ruled out by an opinion of the attorney general, who held that the commission had no authority to consider it.

Which of the trains will be discontinued could not be learned in advance of the commission's official opinion, which has not been rendered.

Towns along the route opposed the application at the Alto hearing.

PERRIN MAN HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH YOUNG GIRL

JACKSBORO, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Robert E. Crow, Jr., 27, barber at Perrin, was in the Jack county jail here charged with the murder of Miss Raure Mae Strickel, 17, whose body was found near a school house at midnight Wednesday.

Crow, who it is said, had been the girl's sweetheart, summoned Dr. J. E. Woods of Perrin to the school house late Wednesday night, telling the physician that the girl was ill, and when they reached here, the physician told authorities, she dead. Dr. Woods and Dr. C. B. McClure of Jacksboro performed an autopsy on the body Thursday and the viscera had been sent to Fort Worth for a chemical examination to determine the cause of the death.

Crow was taken into custody after formal charges of murder had been sworn against him here.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Strickel. Her mother lives in Perrin, but her father is said to have resided in White Deer, Texas, for nearly a year.

ACTION OF RACING COMMISSION STARTS HOT POLITICAL ROW

BALTIMORE, March 22.—(AP)—Disbarment of Harry F. Sinclair's horses from Maryland race tracks because of the oil magnate's connection with Teapot Dome, assumed political significance today with state party leaders supporting and condemning, in turn, the action of the racing commission.

Galen L. Tait, collector of internal revenue, and recognized republican leader of Maryland, in a letter to Governor Ritchie, democrat, took issue with the state administration's action in refusing to permit entries from Rancocas stable, owned by Sinclair, to start in Maryland turf classics. Mr. Tait claimed that the democrats were attempting to overshadow recent state scandals which disclosed a $40,000 shortage in state roads funds.

In reply, Governor Ritchie came to the support of the racing commission's indefinite suspension of the Sinclair stables, with the assertion that he believed it was the commission's duty to "keep racing on a clean and high plane."

Commenting on the $40,000 shortage in state road funds, Governor Ritchie stated that "for the moment, it is in the hands of the state's attorney, where it belongs, and whatever action may be necessary for me to take will be taken as soon as the proper time has come for it."

CALERA, ALA., OFFICER WAS STABBED BY RELATIVES OF WOMAN WHO WAS SLAIN

COLUMBIANA, Ala., March 22.—(AP)—H. F. Blake, Calera chief of police was fired at and then stabbed by two women in circuit court here today just after he had been acquitted of the murder of their relative, Miss Louise Montebaro.

Mrs. Mabel Montebaro, mother of the girl, fired a pistol from a distance of about five feet as Blake was being congratulated by his friends. The shot went wild. Miss Cecil Tubbs, an aunt of the girl, leaped at the police chief, drawing a knife as she flung herself toward him and stabbed him in the neck. Blake fell, the blood streaming from the wound.

The court room was in a turmoil in a moment and Charlie C. McCall, state attorney general, who

REJECTED FUNDS PILING UP HUGE AMOUNT DETROIT

DETROIT —(AP)— There is a $70,000 fortune in the vaults of the Wayne County building known colloquially as the "wounded pride fund."

It is listed as the "missing heirs fund" but is made up almost entirely of $1 and $5 bequests in wills which heirs so often reject because of hurt feelings of wounded pride.

The fund originated in 1902 and it mounts each year. Interest now is accumulating rapidly, for there is no legal way to dispose of the money. Prior to 1921, the interest was turned over to the general fund, but that was held illegal.

What will be done eventually with the fortune is an official puzzle. It is not believed the rightful heirs ever will claim it, for in all cases before the money was turned back to the fund, a legal tender of the amount of the bequest was made to the heir and it was disdainfully refused.

CAN'T ERASE THE BLOT.

There is no doubt Senator Borah was prompted by a real desire to retrieve the Republican party — with which he affiliates when his conscience will let him—from the disgrace of having accepted the $160,000 Sinclair bonds, when he proposed to Republican National Chairman Butler that the Teapot Dome scandal-stained money be repaid through 160,000 one-dollar subscriptions to be solicited from the rank and file of the party.

There is, however, grave doubt whether it would be possible to find 160,000 who would be willing to give even one dollar for the purpose proposed, from among the great numbers of high-principled Republicans who, along with the rest of the nation, are disgusted with the "fake" method adopted by the Republican managers of the 1920 campaign to cover up the real source of the funds used to pay off a large part of the big campaign deficit.

The chagrin that Senator Borah feels, and which honest citizens everywhere share, over the disgrace that has been brought on his party's management, is genuine without doubt. But the damage is done to the party's reputation and no amount of restitution—whether in one-dollar bills or in any other denominations— can ever wipe out the blot.

BYRD AND THE SOUTH POLE.

In a scientifically expressed discussion of the plans, just disclosed in detail, for his airplane attempt to reach the South Pole, Commander Robert E. Byrd, says it is "problematical at present" whether it will be possible actually to land at the Pole.

The commander, whose party will leave New York next August or September, to spend three to fifteen months in the frozen South, explains the Pole is on a plateau more than 10,000 feet high and "it will not be easy to land there." This, he points out, is because the surface may not be suitable; it will be very cold, and, at such a height, the landing speed of a heavily loaded plane is much greater than at sea level, due to the lack of density in the air.

Then, still in the unembellished language of a scientist thinking out an abstract problem, Commander adds:

"We will not land unless it is certain that we will be able to do so safety, except of course in case of emergency due to a sudden storm, when we will come down anyway."

Doesn't that single sentence convey the character of the valiant flier who already has negotiated unknown and perilous air currents on his trip to the North Pole and back? Doesn't it give a new insight into the spirit and courage of all the twentieth century pioneers of the air—the Lindberghs, the Chamberlains and the other brave men who are charting the air maps of the world for the benefit of the rest of us?

"In case of emergency . . . we will come down anyway."

What a wealth of super-courage Commander Byrd unwittingly reveals in those words! He and his trained band will use every bit of available scientific knowledge and every known scientific device to remain in the air away from unnecessary perils of which they have such certain knowledge, but then—if anything happens — they "will come down anyway."

Surely the heart of a true adventurer inspired those simple words.

PARENTS: GOOD AND BAD.

Sometimes it seems society concerns itself more with protecting dumb creatures from cruelty and hardship than with the child that is neglected, homeless or cruelly treated. Perhaps this is an erroneous impression obtained because child welfare agencies lack resourceful publicity agents.

That there is a large field in child welfare is best shown by the 1927 records of the New York society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. That society alone investigated 6,703 cases of abuse, involving 18,000 children. No community, however small, is without some cases, and in some small communities the percentage may be higher than that of New York.

There is today less cruelty and neglect of children than ever before if the record of the ages are accurate, and yet there is room for improvement. Unfortunately, some human beings lack the instinct of parental love. There is no sacrifice in their homes, unless it is made by the children.

The twentieth century is frequently called "the century of the child." But even in this century, parents for the most part may be divided into two classes —those who act as if their children existed only for their benefit, and those who act as if they existed only for their children's benefit. Those in the first group of parents tyrannize the child, seek to destroy his individuality, exercise an arbitrary discipline too spasmodic to have good effect, or completely neglect it. The second class differs from the first by over indulgence, by anxiety to pamper the child by yielding to all its caprices and artifically protecting him from natural results of those caprices. Between the two there are a few who make themselves and their children happier by steering a sensible middle course.

The Baptist Sunday School convention and the Rotary district conference will draw several thousand visitors to Corsicana. These meetings are of such magnitude that they are not confined to any one organization but develop into community affairs. Let every citizen of Corsicana join hands with the Baptist and Rotarians in helping to entertain the visitors and help in every way possible to make the meetings the big success they will be. The Rotary district conference is April 16 and 17, while the Baptist Sunday school convention, which is of a state wide nature, will be April 17, 18, 19.

Before one really can feel right at this season one has to have one's share of vacation literature.

Another test of blood pressure is to be in a hurry and come upon a placid cow on the highway.

We will never know how the human race comes out until it is over.

Hints for the Farm

Furnished by the DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Peonies may be planted now or during the early fall. They need a rich soil. Some authorities say manure should not be placed in direct contact with their roots, but that the ground should be heavily manured in advance of planting them and the manure mixed very thoroughly with the soil.

Yellow corn and white corn generally are thought of as equal in feeding value. Yellow corn, however, contains much more fat-soluble vitamin than white corn. When this vitamin is not supplied by pasture grass or green-leaved roughage or good quality hay, which probably contains an abundance of this substance, yellow corn should be fed. The color of corn has no effect on the color of milk.

Pigs should not be weaned before they are ten weeks old unless there is some urgent reason for earlier weaning. Some breeders wean at an earlier age to get two litters a year. Ordinarily a better practice is to raise three litters in two years. A big that is stunted from early weaning will never make as profitable a hog as it would if such a setback had not occurred.

Lamb creeps have proven very profitable. They are especially valuable in forcing suckling lambs for the market. Creeks are enclosures into which the lambs can get but which keep the ewes out. A rack for hay and a trough for grain should be kept inside the creep.

When horses are troubled with heaves it usually is because of digestive troubles due to wrong or careless feeding. The disease is incurable because it leads to the rupture of small air sacs in the lungs. It usually is caused by feeding damaged hay or straw, roughages that are too bulky, and lacking in nutritive value, and keeping the horse in a dusty atmosphere or a badly ventilated stable.

Burning the range is of no value in getting rid of the southern cattle ticks. It has been fully tried by trained scientists, who declare that no pasture has ever been cleaned of ticks by burning.

Alsike clover will grow under conditions more adverse than red clover and will endure more severe winters and more acid soil. This has made it possible for many farmers to use clover in short rotation without the expense of using large quantities of limestone. In some sections where the soil has been gradually growing more acid in recent years farmers have been seeding mixtures of red and alsike clover, thus more nearly assuring a stand of clover than would otherwise be possible. If winter killing or acidity injure the red clover the alsike is likely to make up the deficiency.

Four good grain mixtures are suggested to supplement legume hay in the winter feeding of dairy heifers of six months of age or more: (1) three parts by weight of ground corn and one part wheat bran (2) three parts ground corn, one part wheat bran, one part ground oats; (3) four parts ground corn, one part wheat bran, two parts ground oats and one part linseed meal; (4) two parts by weight ground oats and one part wheat bran.

Now is the time to look over the incubator, make sure that it is in running order, obtain necessary supplies and replacements and prepare generally for the early hatchnig of the chicks that will bring the early eggs next fall when prices are high.

JEFFERSON'S GAVEL MAY BE USED BRING ORDER AT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Mar. 20.— (AP) — Thomas Jefferson's gavel, presented to him in 1798 after he had been elected vice president of the United States, probably will be used to rap the Democratic National Convention to order here next June.

The gavel, oak and worm-eaten, which Jefferson used in the Senate, was given to Jesse H. Jones, Democratic National Committee finance chairman at a simple ceremony on the site of the convention auditorium here Sunday.

The presentation was made by Miss Lee Taylor, vaudeville actress, who asserted the gavel had been handed down from Zachary Taylor, twelfth president of the United States, and had been in possession of her family ever since.

"We hope," she told Mr. Jones, "that in giving it to the Democratic convention here in Houston, it will serve in some way to stir up memories of all that Jefferson meant in early Americanism."

Mr. Jones said he would turn the gavel over to the convention authorities.

TREASURY RECEIPTS FROM INCOME TAXES SHOWING INCREASE

WASHINGTON, March 20.— (AP)—Treasury receipts from the March 15 income tax payments, which are being watched closely by congress and the administration, show that at the close of business March 17, the government had obtained payments of $215,550,008.07 while on the same date last year the total was $197,690,398.51.

If this proportion should carry through for the entire collections of 1928, the treasury would be likely to have about $100,000,000 or more above its estimates. On this showing hinges the fight in congress over tax revision, but Secretary Mellon is expected to await a fuller showing before announcing his position on this issue.

CORN PLANTING TIME

We believe that we have the best corn planter made. It the Moline Gearless Walking Planter and is also equipped to plant cotton. We also have a very low price on this planter. See price below.

The Moline Walking Planter is a gearless planter, absolutely doing away with gears of any and all kinds. It is a double Pittman drive which does away with side draft. The Pittmans are round steel rods and are placed inside the frame where they are free from the danger of being bent and throwing the machine out of alignment. The corn seed plates are changed from the bottom side of the can and can be changed in the field without having to pour the seed out of the can. The can is extra large and can be locked either in or out of gear. By all means look over the Moline Gearless Walking planter before buying.

GROWING OF GRADE OF COTTON USED BY MILLS IS STRESSED

ONE GEORGIA COUNTY SAV- $350,000 IN THIS WAY LAST SEASON, CLAIMED

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 22.—(AP)—Co-operative reports by cotton growers and manufacturers to produce regionally the kind of cotton demanded by nearby mills would be a helpful factor in the cotton situation, in the opinion of George S. Harris, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association.

This is being encouraged by the association and to some extent has been put into practice, Mr. Harris said, proving mutually beneficial to producer and manufacturer. The long freight hauls are saved and the manufacturers has a ready supply of raw material. The farmer receives a premium for his crop.

"Reports from mill operators in one county—Carroll, Georgia,—alone, have shown that farmers there, under [illegible] fostered by the owners of the county, have saved $350,000 in one year by raising standard fibre cotton and obtaining the premium for it.

"Apply such an item of saving to the 160 counties in Georgia and to other cotton producing states. The result will be striking."

Many North Carolina sections have put the plan into practice, said Mr. Harris, but its success in any section depends largely on complete co-operation of the farmers and willingness of mill owners to turn their attention to it.

Must Raise Grade.

To illustrate what was meant by co-operation to raise required grades of cotton for regional use, Mr. Harris pointed to figures compiled by the United States department of agriculture which showed that 52.77 per cent of the cotton consumed in Georgia mills last year was of the fifteen-sixteenths of an inch fibre. The same report showed that only 16.20 per cent of the total cotton produced in Georgia was of that staple.

"This made it necessary for Georgia mills to bring into the state from other sections 421,599 bales of fifteen-sixteenths of an inch staple," declared Mr. Harris.

On the other hand, it was shown by the report that 78.03 per cent of the cotton produced in the state last year was seven-eighths of an inch staple, while the mills in the state had only 24.81 per cent of their production in that length fibre.

"This meant that the surplus seven-eighths inch staple had to be hauled away from the state to outside mills, bringing on freight costs and other considerations."

Asserting that haphazard methods of cotton production meant that the farmers, with several varieties of staple for sale, were compelled to [illegible] on the low side of the market, Mr. Harris said that no matter where the section was located, great benefits would be derived from community and county co-operation to standarize in planting the cotton for which the nearest market and most ready use could be found.

had personally prosecuted Blake, fainted from excitement. Physicians said Blake's wound was serious. He had toppled into the jury box from which the men who freed him were slowly filing out. They assisted in picking him up and carrying him to a hospital.

Mr. McCall quickly recovered himself and ordered the two women taken into custody. Both were frantic from the strain of the trial and their deed, and Mrs. Monteabaro fought hysterically with court officers before she was subdued. She tried to get to Blake as the bailiffs pinioned her.

Officers said the women had obtained the weapons from the box in which Miss Monteabaro's clothing was kept during the trial. The pistol used in today's shooting was one of those used by the state in expert testimony regarding the manner of the girl's death.

About 30 persons were in the courtroom at the time. All rushed into the open.

Louise Monteabaro, a sewing machine sales woman, was shot to death on the night of last November 14, shortly after Blake and W. D. Farmer, another Calera policeman, had arrested her on the Montgomery highway. They swore she killed herself after her arrest for speeding, and while they had momentarily left the car to examine a bottle which they said she had flung from the machine when they hailed her.

Blake's trial had lasted a little over two weeks and the case had gone to the jury last night. The verdict was returned shortly after court was convened today. Farmer was indicted with Blake and his trial is pending.

Blake was taken to a hospital where physicians said his wound was serious. The knife wound was about two inches long and two inches deep. After a preliminary examination an ambulance was called and he was started for a hospital in Birmingham.

MOODY ADDRESSES FINAL SESSION OF TEXAS CATTLEMEN

AMARILLO, March 22.—(AP)—The cattle business in Texas has set an object lesson for all other industries in co-operative and intelligent effort to improve its conditions, Governor Dan Moody said today in addressing the closing session of the Texas-Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association.

Avoiding politics, the governor said he had come here to pay his respects to "the sturdy men who set the pace in Texas development, and who are setting the pace for other industries in solving their own problems."

"By unity of effort and intelligent study of conditions, you cattlemen are making your business pay," the governor said. "You are organized and you give your time and effort to your business— that is one of the reasons the cattle industry is on a solid financial footing. You don't expect legislative aid, but you do expect an even break with other industries."

Houston was chosen as the 1929 convention city, without opposition and all officers were re-elected at the closing session.

Officers chosen were: R. M. Kelberg, Corpus Christi, president; T. D. Hobart, Pampa, first vice president; C. C. Slaughter, Dallas, second vice president; W. E. Connell, Fort Worth, treasurer; E. B. Spiller, Fort Worth, secretary-manager.

Unalterable opposition to the Hoch-Capper bill was voiced in a resolution unanimously adopted. The resolution stated it was the opinion of the association that the bill as proposed would unnesecarily restrict the right to sell livestock.

The association also went on record as opposing the Box bill, which would extend the quota restrictions in the present immigration act to all countries in the Western hemisphere.

Resolutions also were adopted urging the state to appropriate $25,000 to be used by Texas A. & M. College in testing the efficiency of Texas rations in the finishing or fattening of cattle; demanding a revision of the existing tariff which will afford due protection to the grower of cattle hides; asking advancement of the tariff on meat products so as to diminish the volume of imports from other countries; endorsing the cooperative marketing firms; praising Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine and the bureau of animal industry and other government agencies for the work done in the development of the livestock industry.

In adjourning the convention, President Kleberg declared it had been one of the most successful in history.

BOSTON, March 22.—(AP)—The will of Roger L. Short of Boonville, Mo., torpedo man on the submarine S-4 and one of the six men trapped in the torpedo compartment after the sinking of the vessel, was found today aboard the vessel. The will had been made some time previous to the sinking of the S-4 by the Coast Guard destroyer, Paulding, last December.

CHARGES COTTON FIRM BORROWED LARGE SUM FROM FEDERAL BOARD

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—Cross examination of Arthur R. Marsh, New York cotton broker, by counsel for William L. Clayton, head of the Houston, Texas, cotton trading firm of Anderson Clayton and company, finally got under way today before the senate subcommittee investigating the 1927 slump in cotton prices which Marsh has charged grew out of the tremendous cornering operations by the Houston firm.

David H. Miller, Clayton's lawyer, started by bringing out that Marsh had been a "floor broker" on the New York exchange for 24 years and in that time had not dealt in merchandising of cotton on his own account.

Miller jumped at once to Marsh's assertion that the Clayton company had borrowed up to $70,000,000 from the Federal War Finance corporation up to 1922. He asked what authority Marsh had for his assertion. The New Yorker said it was "generally" known of in the trade and when pressed by Miller, finally named two or three New York Exchange colleagues.

"You made no effort to investigate the facts yourself before making that statement?" Miller demanded.

"No," Marsh said.

Reading from the third annual report of the War Finance corporation, covering the year up to November 30, 1920, Miller said it showed that about $8,000,000 had been advanced by it to finance cotton sales abroad that year, Anderson Clayton and another cotton firm being equally interested.

"That shows that the total loaned to Anderson Clayton in that year was a trifle under $4,000,000, does it not?" Miller asked.

"Upon your assumption, yes; but I do not accept your assumption," Marsh said.

JAILER OVERPOWERED AND MEN LEAVE JAIL EARLY WEDNESDAY

WICHITA FALLS, March 21.—(AP)—Five of six prisoners who escaped from the county jail here early Wednesday, still were at large this afternoon and presumably were fleeing into Oklahoma in an automobile taken forcibly from an owner whom they kidnapped.

J. S. Hendricks, Wichita Falls, walked into Ima, Okla., about noon Wednesday and reported that he had just freed himself from a tree to which the fugitives had tied him. They had then continued their flight in his car, he reported. This information was given by long distance to the sheriff's department here which was without further information concerning Mr. Hendricks' experience.

The prisoner recaptured after the break, is Claude Reeves, under sentences aggregating seven and a half years from Wichita county. He was arrested about four hours after the break by officers who said they found him hiding beneath a bed in a house.

WICHITA FALLS, March 21.—(AP)—Six prisoners escaped from the Wichita county jail about daylight today after overpowering C. L. Bradford, the jailer, and locking him in a cell.

Those who escaped according to jail authorities, were Roy Jackson, under a five year penitentiary sentence from Potter county; Claude Reeves, under sentences aggregating seven and a half years from Wichita county; Charles Lindsey, three years for burglary from Hardeman county; H. C. Clark, two years for forgery from Gray county; Jeff Whitt, serving a two year jail sentence here, and Boone Brown, against whom a burglary charge is pending.

Another prisoner, Claude Johnson, who is under a two year sentence from Hardeman county, turned back after reaching the outside. He returned to his cell and released Bradford.

"I have a wife and three children; I want to serve my two years and get it over with," he explained.

Jackson, Clark, Lindsey and Johnson had been brought to the jail here to await transfer to the penitentiary.

Two Midland Jail Breakers Captured

PYOTE, March 21.—(AP)— Two of the Midland jail breakers, C. A. Duncan and Teague Lawler, are back in the hands of the law at Barstow, Ward county, after a sensational man hunt, and the third, C. C. Base, wanted in connection with the alleged framed murder of two Mexicans in front of a bank at Stanton, is expected to be taken into custody soon.

Lawler, under a 99-year sentence for robbery, and Duncan, sentenced to two terms for forgery, were recognized by the deputy as they loitered in the outskirts of Pyote. They fled into a thicket but were captured after a lengthy search, offering no resistance.

FORMER RAIL OFFICIAL DIES.

NEW YORK, March 22.—(AP)—Colonel John McAnerney, former vice-president of the Southern railway and treasurer of St. Patrick's cathedral died today at his home here. He was a confederate veteran.

FOUR THOUSAND VISITORS ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Plans and details are rapidly being perfected for the entertainment of approximately 4,000 visitors expected to be in Corsicana April 17, 18, 19 for the third annual state Sunday school convention of the Baptist denomination.

Visitors attending the convention last year numbered 3,600 and on account of the central location and easy accessibility of Corsicana a new attendance record is predicted by officials in charge.

The visitors will be entertained in the homes of Corsicana. However, a nominal charge will be assessed against them. It is stated that arrangements have been made where one person may secure room and breakfast for $1.00 a day. A room for one person will be 75c and with three or more in a room the charge will be 50c each person. This does not include breakfast. A number of women's church organizations are also making preparations to serve meals to the delegates the minimum charge to be 50c.

The sessions will be held in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, in the Educational building of the First Methodist church and in the auditorium of the First Christian church.

We are depending on the people of the city to help us entertain the visitors," Mr. Harper said. "This convention is a big event not only for the Baptist of the city and county but for the membership of every other denomination in this vicinity. Lindbergh Presented With Bronze Medal and $25,000 Woodrow Wilson Prize

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—The name of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today stood linked with those of Viscount Cecil and Elihu Root as one whose contribution to the cause of international peace and understanding had been recognized as worthy of the Woodrow Wilson Award.

The award, consisting of a bronze medal 12 inches in diameter and $25,000 was presented by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation at a dinner at the Hotel Astor last night attended by notables in many fields.

The award was presented to Viscount Cecil of England in 1924 for his services to the League of Nations and to Mr. Root in 1926 for his part in the establishment of the World Court.

Colonel Lindbergh, in his speech of acceptance, paid tribute to the achievements of President Wilson, "A man," he said, "who was always at the head of progress and peace and yet who ws able to successfully lead his nation through the greatest war in history when peace was no longer possible and after that war, to bring this country back to his high ideals."

Switching to aviation, Colonel Lindbergh expressed the belief that aviation would play a large part in the betterment of world understanding.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling Field this afternoon after bucking a strong headwind since leaving New York this morning.

Ninety members of congress accepted his invitation for a flight over the city this afternoon, tomorrow and Thursday. The legislators were assigned to ride in groups of ten in the army's trimotored Fokker monoplane.

MAINE PAPER IS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER MARIONETTES ACT

The famous French Marionettes which are to appear at the high school auditorium Thursday, March 29, matinee and night, under the auspices of the Nevin Club are bringing to Corsicana the largest Marionette theatre in the world and also the largest Marionettes that have ever traveled, the Marionettes used giving the audience the illusion that they are practically lifesized. Much has already been written concerning the evening performance which is to be "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," especially for adults and the following clipping from the Portland Telegram will enlighten the public concerning the results of the matinee in another city.

The Telegram states:

"Never was there a child audience in the city like that at Uncle Wiggily this morning.

"Frye Hall, from balcony to frontmost row was packed with a mass of juvenile humanity. The children sat on the window sills, held in place by anxious mammas. They stood up in chairs in the very back of the auditorium. They even tried to sit upon the balcony railings until an argus-eyed young man put a stop to this dangerous pastime. They would have clung from the roof had it been permitted.

The performance was scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock and by 12 o'clock the advance guard had arrived. From 12 o'clock on children were streaming into the hall as rapidly as the perspiring man on the door could admit them. They were of all ages and sorts and sizes—yes, and even colors— but all were animated by but one thought—and at last they were to have an opportunity to see the hero of the Bedtime Stories.

And if last night's performance of Uncle Wiggily was a riot this afternoon's was even more so. The bunny hero and Skeezicks and the Pip and all the other famous characters of the story were greeted with outcries, with laughter, and with applause that mounted until the directors of the Woman's Literary Union must have been a wee bit afraid for the stability of the roof.

It was by all odds the most eventful children's holiday the city has seen and it would have done the heart of Howard R. Garis, author of the Bedtime Stories, a world of good to see it.

NEW CHARGES ARE BROUGHT AGAINST HOUSTON FACTORS

FORMER NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE MAN ALLEGES MANY MANIPULATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Anticipated cross questioning of Arthur L. Marsh, New York cotton broker, on his many charges of market manipulation by the Houston cottn trading firm of Anderson Clayton and Company, was again deferred before the Senate cotton slump inquiry committee today as Marsh had further accusations to present in a supplementary direct statement.

Marsh flatly denied that a personal controversy between himself and William L. Clayton, head of the Houstn Hope, had caused him to make charges of manipulation and anti-trust law violation against Clayton's firm. He had been moved solely by realiaztion that topsy turvy conditions in the cotton trade were due to the fact that the Houston operators had secured control of the cotton futures market, he declared.

Again charging Clayton in a speech had said no man could buy a bale of cotton "without being able to read my mind," Marsh asserting this was "pitifully true" and that various cotton trading firms had been plucked to the bone because they had guessed wrong as to what Clayton intended to do over a period of years.

It was generally believed in the cotton trade, Marsh declared, that profitable deals in cotton sold to Germany after the war and Government loans through the war finance corporation up to $70,000,000 in the post-war demoralization period had been concerned in Anderson Clayton operations up to 1922.

At that time, with no Government money in his hands, he added, the market manipulation operations began and are still continuing. He declared that the firm at the close of the world war had a capital of $5,000,000 compared to $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 it has accumulated since in market operations.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Charges that a "world wide propaganda" was fostered in 1926-27 by the Houston, Texas, cotton firm of Anderson, Clayton & Company to induce cotton spinners to transfer their dealings from the New York to the New Orleans Cotton Exchange were added before the senate marketing inquiry today by Arthur R. Marsh of the New York Exchange, to the numerous accusations of market manipulation he already has made against the Texas firm.

Due to these manipulations, he added, the net result of this propaganda activity was that spinners paid "about $6 more a bale" for their cotton than would otherwise have been the case.

Marsh said the New Orleans Exchange had sent out circulars to spinners in 1926 to urge transfer of operations from New York to New Orleans, a "Mr. LeGrande" of the New Orleans organization being "very active in Europe" in that connection. While it was a "natural effort" on the part of the New Orleans Exchange to increase its business, the witness said he implied that the Texas cotton firm had used this to increase its manipulation operations.

Spinners generally followed the suggestions as to transfer of operations from New York to New Orleans, Marsh said, New Orleans futures going to a margin of 20 points over New York quotations.

"It was a part of the move to depress the New York market," he added.

Marsh said that in 1926, there was also a general movement among spinners to buy heavily low grade cotton at cheap prices.

The Anderson Clayton company promptly cornered the low grade supply, he continued, with the result that when competitors of that firm came to settle their future sales, they had to buy the cotton from the Texas house.

"The balance of the cotton merchants found themselves losing heavily," he added, due to the prices set by Anderson, Clayton on low grade cotton.

SHEEP RAISING IN NAVARRO COUNTY GIVEN NEW IMPETUS

Sheep raising, which is recognized as a desirable factor in any well set-up farming program for a Texas community, is getting a start in Navarro county, it was explained at the Chamber of Commerce Monday morning.

One hundred head, about half of which are registered Hampshire stock, have been placed on the West ranch, about three miles from Richland and it is possible that this entire ranch of some 2,000 acres may eventually be devoted to sheep, according to George Andrews, manager of the ranch. M. S. Church of Dallas, trustee of the estate owning the ranch, and Mr. Andrews, whose family has lived on the ranch since 1881, are both deeply interested in the development of sheep raising in the county. There are also several smaller flocks in the county.

The ranch now has some young registered lambs for sale and shortly the management expects to go into Kansas and purchase two more cars of picked, registered stuff.

It is believed that there is considerable acreage in the county which would profitably support flocks of sheep.

Congressional Medal of Honor Presented American Lone Eagle by President

WASHINGTON, March 21. — President Coolidge today placed personally about the shoulders of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh the blue ribbon of the congressional medal of honor, rarest of American tributes to courage and initiative.

Surrounded by the highest public officials in the executive departments and by Republican and Democratic congressional leaders, President Coolidge conferred the decoration for "heroic courage and great skill" in the Lindbergh flight from New York to Paris.

"I offer you my heartiest congratulations," the president said, after conferring the medal.

He added that in his flight Lindbergh had "not only achieved the greatest personal triumph of any American citizen, but had shown that trans-Atlantic flight was possible."

Previously Colonel Lindbergh had appeared before the military committees to give his views on a bill by Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, proposing separate promotion lists for aviation officers in military services.

Apparently in deference to Lindbergh's desire to keep out of the pubilc eye, his testimony before the senate committee was heard behind closed doors, but on the other side of the capitol, where he appeared before the house military affairs committee on the same measure, the flyer spoke before a large crowd.

"The safety factors in commercial aviation," he declared, "give way to speed and carrying bombs and other weapons in military aircraft."

He emphasized that in order to maintain the efficiency and high morale of the army air corps some form of compensation in higher ranks should be provided.

"Active military flying always will be hazardous," he added. "The expectancy of life of a flying officer probably is one of the lowest of any occupation in the world. It is discouraging for officers of the army air corps to have rank quite junior to that expected in the positions they hold."

EQUALIZATION FEE PRINCIPAL OF FARM BILL IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20.—(AP)—By a vote of 13 to 8, the equalization fee principle of the McNary-Hugen relief bill was approved today, by the house agriculture committee.

Seven republicans and six democrats voted in support of the fee while six republicans and two democrats joined in the opposition.

After the vote Chairman Hugen predicted that the bill would be favorably reported tomorrow with probably nineteen members voting in its support.

Mr. Hugen said that the equalization fee provisions in the house bill were practically the same as those in the farm relief bill, recently approved by the senate agricultural committee.

Under the section applying to the fee, he added, the proposed federal farm board would be directed to seek stabilization of the agricultural industry by first applying the loan features of the bill in the event that co-operative and other farm organizations should be unable to bring about stabilization in this way, he said, the board then would be empowered to resort to the equalization fee.

The bill would authorize an appropriation of $400,000,000 of which $375,000,000 would be available for loans to co-operatives and $25,000,000 for the purchase of equipment and other facilities needed by the co-operatives.

T. J. WALTON BACK FROM SOUTH TEXAS; BUSINESS IMPROVING

T. J. Walton has returned from Goose Creek, Texas, where he spent several days with his daughter, Miss Camile Walton, who is a teacher in the public schools of that city. Mr. Walton was joined in Houston by his brother, M. M. Walton, furniture dealer of Yoakum, Texas, who returned to Corsicana with him for a few days' visit.

Mr. Walton reports business booming in South Texas and was especially impressed with the school system of Goose Creek. He stated that this city now had under construction another school building which at completion will represent an expenditure of $190,000. South Texas road building also attracted the attention of Mr. Walton, the new highway under construction between Goose Creek and Houston being especially interesting. "This highway will be 100 feet wide and 28 miles long," he said.

Increased business and prosperity for Corsicana was also predicted by Mr. Walton. "I notice in the morning papers that Texas is leading in oil production and that cotton is once more quoted at 20c or better," he pointed out. "These things point to better business conditions in general and I know my own business has shown a marked improvement. A steady improvement in all lines of business will be noticeable in the next few weeks," he observed.

Mr. Walton sad he was looking for a large attendance at the district Rotary conference here April 16-17, and that he had written letters to all furniture dealers in the district, members of Rotary International, inviting them to Corsicana. "I have received letters from a number signifying their intenton of attending."

The Texas Retail Furniture Dealers' association of Texas will convene in a two days' session at San Antonio April 16-17, but Mr. Walton stated he would not attend on account of the Rotary conference here at the same time.

Mr. Walton heads one of the largest furniture stores in this section of the state.

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP)—The Evening Express today says that Los Angeles city authorities are carrying on their investigation of the St. Francis dam disaster on the theory that the collapse of the big buttress was caused by dynamite.

Evidence pointing to the alleged act is declared to be in the hands of District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Coincident with the discovery of the alleged evidence, it was learned guards have been ordered placed at every vulnerable spot in the city's domestic water supply artery. A heavily armed patrol has been dispatched to guard that section of the aqueduct traversing Owens Valley, particularly the big reservoirs.

The evidence, the Express says it learns, will be put before a coroner's jury when Los Angeles city's official inquest over some of the bodies of nearly 300 known dead in the disaster is held.

CORSICANA WELL REPRESENTED WITH DAIRY DELEGATES

EAST TEXAS SHORT COURSE, JAC4SONVILLE, ATTRACTED LARGE ATTENDANCE

Corsicana was represented on the program, committee assignents and some of its dairymen at the two day East Texas Short course on better agricultural methods at Jacksonville Tuesday and Wednesday. In addition to the large number of dairymen and farmers, the meeting was attended by officials of federal and state departments, A. and M. College, county agents, railroad and utility specialists in farm and dairy problems.

G. M. Crook, Corsicana Sanitary engineer, presented a paper on the practical value of laboratory tests to dairymen. County Agent Henry Gentry was a member of the resolutions committee. Other Corsicana people in attendance were D. C. Ring, J. H. Sheppherd, D. R. Nelson, and W. Roy Christian of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce made extensive plans for the handling of the program and the entertainment of the guests with the cooperation of their local dairymen. Special entertainments were given at night and attractive complimentary luncheons were served each day of the course. The Wednesday luncheon was held at the James O'Keefe dairy, six miles from town, where the visitors had the opportunity to see one of the most complete dairy farms in that section of the state. As entertainment features for the luncheon program and as aides in the convention hall, a group of high school girls dressed as milk maids was a colorful feature.

Dairy Interest Growing.

Running through the numerous speakers discussions of varied dairy problems was the belief that Texas is beginning a renewed interest in the development of dairying, particularly on the farm.

It was brought out that there is a far greater demand for good dairy stocks than there is stock obtainable at this time in the state.

W. N. Blanton, manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, said that Texas is in for an era of establishing large milk products concerns and that there was apparently no fear of over production or glutting the market in the south.

In discussing the profitable selection of dairy animals J. A. Clutter, of A. and M. College, declared that high producing dairy cows are profitable and that high production is obtained to a large extent by careful selection and mateing. The ability to produce large amounts of milk and fat is an inherited characteristic and while feed and care should be kept in mind at all times, no great improvement can be made until a careful breeding program is planned.

Should Select Good Stock.

The first step in carrying out this plan, explained Mr. Clutter, is to select the foundation animals of the herd. A man with limited means and experience should start on a small scale and learn the business. This means that he should retain his high grade animals, purchase a few good type females and spend most of his money for a sire.

The bull is more than half the herd in building up the grade. The farmer, to make a success with milk cows, must know something about permanent pastures and raise the majority of his feed, it was emphasized.

Much of the program had to do with the technical phases of sanitation and handling of retail milk by commercial dairymen. Various public health departments had a prominent place on the program.

County Agent Henry Gentry announced Thursday that he is expecting to arrange for a dairy short course in Navarro county within the next few days.

PALESTINE SUNDAY WILL BE OBSERVED BY CORSICANA JEWS

Sunday, April 1st, has been designated Palestine Sunday, by the local Jewish community, when special exercises will be held in the local synagogue and prominent out of town speakers will be here to speak on present conditions in the Holy Land, and the great work of reconstruction which is being carried out since the country has been freed from the Turkish yoke.

Among the visitors who are expected to be present are Rabbi Abraham Bengis of Fort Worth, who is president of the Texas State Zionist association; Rabbi Wolfe Macht of Temple Rodef Sholom Waco; A. The meeting is being arranged by the state Zionist association, which is part of a world wide organization which has for its object the rehabilitation of the Holy Land. The Zionists are hoping to raise $7,500,000 in this country this year, of which the Texas quota, is $100,000. With this money, land is being bought in Palestine on which of the Central European countries are being settled.

In addition the entire public health and sanitation system of Palestine has been taken over by the Hadassah, the women's Zionist Organization of America, which has done a wonderful piece of work in ridding the country of disease and insanitation. Arrangements for the meeting are being made by K. Wolens, H. Rothkop, Rabbi M. Leibson, Louis Rothkop. immigrants from the persecution

May Christian Work Be Done Without The Wearing Of Labels?—What Really Was The Mission Of Jesus?—A Review Of Mark's Story

Asa K. Jennings, the hero of the Smyrna disaster, sat before my fireplace the other day, talking about the new work he is doing in the old Bible city of Smyrna. Unlabelled and alone, he has returned to Turkey to cooperate with the Turks, who have taken on the outward forms of western democracy, that he may help them establish the social service activities which the western world has developed as a result of its Christianity. A home for homeless babies, a babies' clinic, a child-welfare work, a night-school is a mosque, a playground in an old Moslem cemetery, the introduction of athletics and sport and entertainment into the life of Turkish youth—these are some of the high spots in the successful activity of the Smyrna Community Welfare Council, which is another name for Jennings, plus all the public-minded Turks, official and lay, in the city.

Nobody calls Jennings a missionary His work is not designated as Christian. He does no proselytizing. There is no religious organization in America behind him; only a few interested friends. But his motive is to show the spirit and works of Jesus. He desires to be to the Turks what he thinks Jesus would be. So he simply goes about doing good. He is filling the role of helpful friend to a nation which want to go all the way along the road of western civilization; but which has no past experience in organized social service.

In a word, Jennings is serving and heralding the kingdom of God. In a land where the name of Christian has for centuries been identified with the practices and characteristics of the decadent ecclesiasticism of the old oriental churches, which the non-Christians have regarded with contempt, this man has undertaken to do the work of Christ, in the spirit of Christ, without attaching any labels thereto. Everybody knows that he is a Christian; and the Turks are finding that the characteristic fruits of his life and labors are helpfulness, neighborliness and good will. His sailing orders— if I may use that figure concerning one whose heroism in a crisis won for him from the American naval forces in the Levant the brevet title of "Admiral" and "Commodore" — are the words of Jesus Himself:—"By their fruits shall ye know them. Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father who is in heaven."

The Great Doer of Deeds.

News-nosing Mark, as we have seen in this three month of study of his book, was engrossed in the story of the deeds of Jesus. He protrays Christ as a great Doer. Jennings, of Smyrna, has caught the message of Mark. The Master "went about doing good:" His works proclaimed His character and His message. No service was too lowly for Him to perform for the help of His fellow men. His was the real practice of brotherhood. Fearlessly, He rebuked oppressors and hypocrites and all who laid needless burdens on the people. He healed the sick, fed the hungry, allayed the sorrows of the grief-stricken by raising the dead; and kept on doing these things, in active itineration throughout the Land. Apparently, as shown by His answer to the emissaries of John the Baptist, Jesus trusted chiefly to the deeds He did to interpret His character and mission.

That evidently was the Master's idea of the new kingdom of God When He sent forth His representatives, it was to duplicate His works. They were to make over human society—nothing less— by showing a manner of life which spelled love and helpfulness, as the evidences of the sovereignty of the Saviour. The rule of God— His kingdom—was to be proved by the welfare of man. In the reign of the Father none of His children should suffer from neglect or injustice or grief or selfishness.

That is to say, bluntly, that according to Jesus, the kingdom of God cannot exist where human hurt is tolerated. Citizens and ambassadors of that kingdom are pledged to bring in an era of good will, of common welfare, and of obedience to the beneficent law of a Supreme Lord who calls Himself Father. Facts, not formulas, make the kingdom which is the goal of all the forces of heaven on earth.

Is It Tinged With Red?

In other words, we are not to conform the conception of the kingdom to our own ideas; but our own ideas to the clear law of the kingdom.

A visitor to Wheaton, Ill., once said to a preacher's small boy, "Does Red Grange live near you?"

"No sir," answered the youngster quickly; "we live near Red Grange."

Outstanding in the works and words of Jesus was His valiant refusal to conform the kingdom messages to the existing order of things. He never once truckled to win the favor of the powerful. All things were to be judged by the will of the Father. He did not ask, "Does my programme fit the ties?" Instead, He challenged the times?" Instead, He challenged the kingdom programme.

As we look over the events recorded by Mark, we find, both in the case of Jesus and in the experience of His disciples, that their days were filled with practical good works, done at a cost of real labor and self - denial. There was the red tinge of sacrifice over it all. All the ministry of the Master was marked, as it were, with the print of the nails.

This sets up thinking. How much of our own kingdom work is sacrificial? It developed in my talk with Jennings that he, the honored friend of Turkey's great ones, the leader of a mighty civic enterprise and a real factor for international good-will, had come home across the Atlantic as a steerage passenger, just to save a few dollars to be used out where need is acute. We may not approve his judgment, considering the relation of his health to an important cause, but we must admit that his spirit was one with that of the early disciples. Christian work in our own land lags because we have lost, to a degree, this sacrificial note from volunteer discipleship. Our day's fashion is to hire a man to do the Lord's work. Even salaried Sunday school teachers are the programme of modern religious education.

How the Kingdom Comes.

Ups and downs, popularity and opposition, marked the early activities of Jesus and His band, about which Mark tells us. Waves rose and fell—but the tide steadily advanced. And so the kingdom comes toay. All the ferment and restlessness and social and intellectual upheaval which are characteristics of this generation are but the travail of the kingdom's coming. What we are witnessing are not death throes, but birth pranks. We are struggling through the new and great ideas of life which, when cleansed of driftwood and beach-rubbish, will prove to be the kingdom conception of Jesus. Thisera is undergoing something like education by cataclysm.

All the while, steadying and directing and enpowering the forces, are two agencies, human and Divine. One is the great host of unadvertised and humble Christians who are steadfastly living the life and doing the work of Jesus. They are the disciples whose supreme aim is to do whatever He would like to have them do. In Siam the literal translation of the name "Christian Eendeavor" is "The company of young people who endeavor to do with sacrifice the work that is proper in a Christian." We may be tragically lacking in leaders, but, thank God, there are still an uncounted host of men and women to whom life means, chiefly a chance to do the will of Christ. That fellowship is the world's hope.

Then also, as in Galilee of old, there is Christ himself, imparting motive and power to His disciples. The assurance of the coming of the kingdom is the reality and reign of the King. Because God is, the kingdom must be.

SCHWAB, MELLON AND ROCKEFELLER CALLED BY PROBERS

WASHINGTON, March 20. —(AP)—The senate coal investigation committee decided today to issue subpoenas at once for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab and R. B. Mellon, a brother of Secretary Mellon.

"The purpose of our action," said Chairman Watson, "is entirely constructive. We want to get the views of these men, the big fellows, in order to find out just what they think should be done to remedy this sad situation. Some committee members believed that these leaders have not realized what is going on, and we want to see if they think it would be possible for them to agree to take steps for the purpose of adjusting the troubles in the coal fields. This would obviate the necessity of government intervention, a course which we agree should be deferred in case the operators themselves can organize to improve conditions."

Miners' families in the Pittsburgh district are "living under animal conditions," the committee was told by Fannie Hurst, authoress, who declared that conditions in that area "were worse than I found in Russia."

"The human degradation there is beyond the telling," she said.

Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, likewise agreed with the story of "malignant conditions" in Pennsylvania, adding that he was struck by the indifference of the state government toward the situation.

Miss Hurst described large families of striking miners as "living in shambles," and said that such conditions "sow seeds of anarchy." She advocated government intervention.

ANOTHER TRINITY SAND TEST WILL BE DRILLED AT MEXIA

Announcement of another Trinity sand test for the East-Central Texas area was made late Monday when the contract for a 6000 foot test offsetting the Steubenrauch No. 1 on the edge of the old Mexia field was signed. Preparations are being made to start work on the well immediately.

Three companies are actively engaged in drilling the test and others have contributed to the work. The companies signing the contract were E. L. Smith Oil Company, the Magnolia Petroleum Company, and the Humble Oil & Refining Company. C. F. Lytle of Mexia took the contract for the well which calls for 6,000 feet.

The well will be located on the J. L. Thompson 141-acre tract just west of the old Mexia field, and will be approximately 900 feet northwest of the original Trinity sand test in this area.

Work of building the 136 foot derrick with concreted foundation will be started immediately, and one of the largests types of rotary rigs has been ordered to drill the test.

Rumors have been afloat thruout the winter concerning a new Trinity sand test, and they have been confirmed by the recent announcement.

In addition to the E. L. Smith interests, the Magnolia and Humble several other companies are interested in the test including the [illegible] companies.

The first Trinity sand test was the Steubenrauch et al No. 1 which was drilled to 5738 feet where a strong gas sand was picked up. The flow was estimated at 15,000,000 cubic feet and the well sprayed considerable oil. The well could not be completed as a producer becaus of a crooked string of pipe in the hole which could not be removed, and would not permit the hole to be cleaned out nor deepened. After several months of activity the hole was choked up with sand cleaned out.

COTTON CROP FOR PAST YEAR SHORT FIVE MILLION BALES

NEW ORLEANS, March 20. — (AP)—The cotton market advanced approximately $2.50 a bale on the Exchange here today under pressure of increased buying induced by the bullish crop total.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The 1927 cotton crop was placed today by the Census Bureau at 12,950,473, equivalent 500-pound bales, compared with 17,977,374 bales in 1926 and 16,103,679 in 1925.

FIRE INSURANCE COMMISSIONER IS HEARD BY CITIZENS

Possibility of Corsicana's having a penalty assessed against their key rate for fire insurance were discussed at a joint meeting of the board of directors of the Corsicana chamber of commerce, insurance exchange, and a number of business men following an address by T. M. Campbell, Jr., state fire insurance commissioner.

President C. L. Jester presided at the meeting and a list of the permanent committee of the chamber of commerce for the year was read and approved. The cooperation of the chamber of commerce was pledged to the mayor and civic organizations for the annual clean-up campaign which will be staged the first week in April, and have the city in good condition when the visitors for the various conventions arrive.

J. L. Halbert of the agricultural committee made a brief report of the dairying situation, assuring the directors that a milk plant could be secured for Corsicana as soon as the necessary number of cows could be secured.

President Jester urged the committee on aviation to make some effort immediately to supply Corsicana with proper landing facilities, and make further progress in aviation possible.

R. A. Caldwell, president of the Corsicana insurance exchange, was introduced and in turn introduced T. M. Campbell, Jr., formerly of Palestine, and now state fire insurance commissioner.

The commissioner briefly recalled his experience as a fire insurance agent which had provided his knowledge of the work of the department when he accepted the place as its head. A number of departmental troubles have been and are being eliminated according to the speaker, and the insurance department is rapidly becoming a business-like organization.

Pointing out that the fire insurance companies in Texas were not giving away anything and that they were collecting their losses from the policy holders, Mr. Campbell presented some figures on Corsicana's fire record or the past three years.

In 1925 Corsicana paid $159,979.34 in premiums with losses totaling $25,999.18; in 1926 premiums amounted to $176,534.34 with losses of $94,132.32; and in 1927 the premiums were $172,690.38 and losses $142,449.14. The ratio of Corsicana's fire losses to the amount of premiums paid for the three year period was 51 per cent, for 1925 it was about 20 per cent, 1926 it was 55 per cent and in 1927 it was 82 per cent.

Basing his further figures on the 1927 premiums, Campbell asserted that the 3 per cent credit allowed would be a saving of $5,180 a year for Corsicana, and a maximum credit of 15 per cent would mean a saving of $25,903 annually. A 15 per cent penalty would cost the citizens $52,000 a year.

Business men should be interested in fire prevention because they pay for the losses in their premiums, the speaker asserted, and they should aid their local fire prevention committees.

In the discussion following the address, Mayor J. S. Murchison charged the responsibility to the individual home owner, calling special attention to the obsolete electric wiring that is being used in some buildings.

Edward M. Polk called the attention of those present to the fact that the credit received this year was assisted by the low loss record in 1925, and that every effort would have to be bent toward maintaining a very low record in 1928 to maintain the credit because of the heavy loss during the past two years. He was supported by Mr. Campbell in his statements.

D. N. Rice called the attention of the business men to the dangers of over insurance, and Mr. Campbell presented a number of his experiences with over insurance losses.

A telegram from the Kosse chamber of commerce was read, inviting the local chapter to send a representative to a meeting to be held at Kosse Wednesday to complete plans for the completion of the federal survey of Highway 14 across a strip of Falls county. Corsicana will likely be represented at the meeting.

President W. C. Stroube of the Lions club extended an invitation to all of those present at the meeting who were not members of the club to attend the meeting of the club at noon.

Those present at the meeting were C. L. Jester, Roy Christian, T. M. Campbell, Jr., R. A. Caldwell, J. N. Edens, R. L. Wheelock, Edward M. Polk, Sydney Marks, H. B. Bomar, Charlie Holloway, Billy Peck, Randolph Jackson, Robert Davidson, P. Mayer, F. C. Paul, Elmer Keith, Howard Bivins, J. L. Halbert, Charles H. Mills, J. M. Dyer, Sr., Beauford H. Jester, W. P. McCammon, T. J. Hickey, R. J. Jackson, J. S. Murchison, L. V. Majors, D. N. Rice, W. V. Mowlam, H. D. Fillers, W. C. Stroube, Henry Gentry and W. A. Wright.

MASTERPIECE OF MARK TWAIN WILL BE PRESENTED HERE

When Mark Twain wrote "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" he was destined to write a work that has come to be a prized possession in every American home. Perhaps the real reason for this enormous popularity of this classic of American literature aside from the rich humor that threads through the volume of adventures is the fact that many a Huck Finn has launched forth into the present day world to meet astounding material success and it is with great glee that past years are reviewed by these same men.

Mr. Gros who heads the company of French Marionettes negotiated for many months with the Mark Twain Estate for the sole privilege of using the famous story, and it was only after definite proof was given to the managers of the company that the Marionettes would be able to present Huck Finn in all his glory, and that thousands of children and adults would be able to actually see with their own eyes, Huck and Tom Sawyer, not to mention a host of other characters, that final permission was given to make a Marionette play from the book.

Last season the Marionettes played over 385 performances, in over 42 states, traveling about 60,000 miles establishing a record with puppets that has never been touched. The newspapers of the country have been unanimous in theirp raise. Educators in colleges and hundreds of public schools have broken all school traditions by sponsoring the company and actually dismissing school early so that all the children of the community could see the special matinees for the children.

The Nevin Club, which is bringing the French Marionettes to Corsicana announce that the plays will be given at the high school auditorium. The matinee will be "Uncle Wiggily in Wonderland," and the evening performance especially for adults is "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." Tickets are on sale now at Coulson's Drug store.

BOY SHOT THROUGH HEAD WHILE BAITING HOOK AT CREEK EDGE

Jack Phillips, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Phillips, tenant on the B. L. Davis farm about one and one-half miles south of Corbet, was found dead in Richland creek early Wednesday morning with a 22-calibre bullet wound in the top of the head.

He left the home of his parents to bait some fish hooks on the creek about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon and when he failed to return late Tuesday; a search was instituted for him that lasted all night, the body being found face-downward Wednesday morning. Indications pointed to his being shot as he was preparing to bait a hook and he toppled into the water. It is thought that his unknown assailant shot him from behind, probably standing on the top of the bank, as the bullet is said to have ranged toward the face.

No funeral arrangements have been made but the body will likely be interred at Corbet some time Thursday.

No motive for the deed has been advanced by the relatives and neighbors.

Sheriff Notified.

The Sheriff's office was notified Wednesday morning and Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell and Sam B. Jordan, justice of the peace, left early Wednesday morning for the scene of the tragedy and Sheriff W. T. Wilson later went to the scene.

A number of the hooks had been baited and the lad apparently was bending over preparing to bait his last hook when he was shot by his assailant from behind. The cap of the boy was still on his head when he was found.

The family recently moved to this county from West Texas and relatives could not advance any theory as to the cause of the shooting. The boy was not armed when he left the house.

Surviving are his parents, three brothers and two sisters.

Judge Jordan held an inquest over the body of the lad Wednesday morning and his coroner's verdict was "death due to gunshot wounds inflicted by an unknown person."

Deputy Sheriff E. W. Warnell returned to the vicinity of the tragedy Wednesday afternoon to continue the investigation started earlier in the day.

BEAUMONT CHOSEN BY ODD FELLOWS AS 1929 MEETING PLACE

DALLAS, Mar. 21.—After a struggle which lasted almost all Tuesday members of the Grand Lodge of Texas, Independent Orderof Odd Fellows, meeting on the second ay of a three day convention in the city hall auditorium, selected Beaumont as their meeting place for the 1929 convention. About 4,000 are attending this convention and the convention of the women's auxiliary, the Rebekah Assembly.

Beaumont won the coming convention by thirty votes, it receiving 797 votes while Mineral Wells received 767. Fort Worth, who early in the balloting bid for the honor, withdrew its invitation.

However, the heat of the session at the city hall was forgotten at the annual banquet at the Adolphus hotel, attended by about 900. [illegible] C. Richards of Dallas was toastmaster. Among those who spoke were C. A. Wheeler of Austin, past grand master; James D. Buster, Sherman, grand master; Ray Rector, Stamford, grand warden; E. Q. Vestal, Dallas, grand secretary, and John A. Kee, Fort Worth, grand treasurer.

After the banquet the degree of chivalry was conferred on George N. Burns, D. S. Harper, D. L. Lamme, S. H. Knight, W. T. Savage, H. L. Carpenter, D. H. Page, and Sisters Mattie Rowan, Laura Heffner, Etta Littlepage and Mattie A. Patton.

Trustees for the Grand Lodge and the W. & O. Home were elected. Trustees for the Grand Lodge are C. B. Sutherland, Corsicana, chairman; [illegible] M. House, Fort Worth, vice chairman; G. E. Knauff, San Antonio, secretary; George J. Reed, Dallas; J. H. Storey, Sherman; W. [illegible] Frances, Fort Worth, chairman, [illegible]land; W. H. Wray, Dallas, treasurer; C. P. Masters, Pecan Gap, and J. O. Ward, Mercedes, compose the newly elected W. & O. Home trustees.

Tuesday was a busy day for the Rebekah Assembly of which Mrs. Annie Savage is the incoming president and Mrs. Jessie N. Ross, vice president. Mrs. Ada Ramsey is the retiring president. It consisted of two business sessions. The banquet was in honor of the president of the Rebekah Assembly. It was followed by a general reception.

Wednesday's sessions will be [illegible]. Competitive degree work will continue as it did Monday and Tuesday at the Odd Fellows' hall, and there will be two business sessions. It is probable that prizes will be awarded Wednesday for the best degree work individually and in teams. The Rebekah Assembly will install officers.

Three States Pledge 44 Delegates For Al Smith In Race for Presidency

ST. PAUL, March 21.—(AP)—Three North Central states, North and South akota and Minnesota, have pledged 44 delegates to the presidential candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith in the democratic national convention.

In the republican party, North Dakota and South Dakota assured Frank O. Lowden 13 electors each. Minnesota's republican presidential preference will be finally determined this week-end.

Gov. Smith's pledged delegates represent the full quotas of these states, ten each from North and South Dakota and 24 from Minnesota.

While two Lowden and two Hoover delegates already have been named in Minnesota, the other 23 from this state in the Kansas City convention will not be named until Friday in district conventions and Saturday in the state convention in St. Paul. A majority of the county delegates to these conventions have been instructed for Lowden.

Smith Formally Enters.

ALBANY, March 21—(AP)—Governor Smith has stepped into the arena of professed presidential aspirants.

Throwing aside the cloak of silence that has shrowded his attitude toward national politics, he has consented to the use of his name in the Massachusetts presidential primaries.

The authorization was filed by the democratic state chairman, Charles H. McGlue, with the Massachusetts secretary of state.

Hitherto the governor has certified to the correctness of his name on the Michigan primary ballot.

GOVERNOR KEEPS CLOSE TONGUE ON FEDERAL ACTION

AUSTIN, March 20.—(AP)—Governor Moody would not comment Tuesday on the budget bureau's action in recommending a 50 per cent cut in a proposed $5,000,000 federal appropriation to combat West Texas pink boll worm infestation.

Dispatches from Washington said no federal money would be available unless the state ordered a non-cotton zone on the area affected. This step was not taken by the state boll worm commission, which ordered only the establishment of semi-quarantine regulations.

Mr. Moody said the state is waiting to accept what the government will give it.

He would not say whether Texas has the $2,500,000 which apparently will be necessary if a like federal sum is to be obtained, nor would he discuss what action might be necessary to get it or whether he will favor the inauguration of a non-cotton zone.

The governor was unusually careful to avoid mention of the special legislative session which, figuratively, has been hanging over the capitol since the announcement that seven additional counties had been stricken with the pest.

BAPTIST WORKERS MET MONDAY FIRST BAPTIST BUILDING

The Corsicana Baptist workers conference held at the First Baptist church here Monday was well attended and the program was rendered practically as outlined.

The Alathean class of the First Baptist church had charge of the opening exercises and presented an interesting program.

Reports from the various churches represented showed that much progress is being made and those in charge of the work were well pleased.

Mrs. W. H. Hord of Hubbard City made the principal address in the morning session on "Aims of Mission Study Institute." Mrs. Hord is mission study chairman for the Waco district.

The afternoon program was in charge of Mrs. George F. Miller, president of the Association W. M. U., and many phases of church work were discussed.

Demonstrations of class work were given by Mrs. J. Howard Williams, a program of methods was directed by Mrs. W. H. Hord and an open conference was conducted by Mrs. A. C. Davis of Purdon.

The mission study institute was in session Tuesday and was well attended. The program was along the same lines as that of Monday and the announced purpose is to train and develop leaders in the work of the church.
